Data Risk Solutions℠ is a set of targeted offerings addressing the threats, requirements, and complexities associated with managing data assets in today’s global market.

Data asset risk is demanding the attention of the enterprise, from its boardroom to the edges of its ecosystem. Organizations are just beginning to recognize the extent of the challenge as they grapple with the evolving, multidirectional threats impacting high-value data assets. The need for specialized skill sets, combined with a scarcity of expertise, poses a tremendous challenge to evaluating the risks and designing effective responses. Risks to data are often narrowly defined and managed in silos, resulting in increased vulnerability, regulatory scrutiny, legal liability, sub-optimal asset management, and loss of shareholder and brand value.

Data Risk Solutions℠ is BuckleySandler’s and Treliant Risk Advisors’ response to market demand for the reliable, diverse, and deep expertise needed to bridge the silos and provide effective business solutions to complex data challenges. Combining the legal and regulatory depth of a premier law firm with the process and technology breadth of a results-oriented risk and compliance consulting firm, this approach is uniquely positioned to offer maximum value to our clients. The use of common methodologies and integrated solution teams, combined with years of experience in the field, ensures efficient delivery of sound advice, practical solutions, and actionable reporting.

The Data Risk Solutions℠ model is highly agile and spans governance, process, technology, and organizational design, achieving compliance and strengthening response to regulatory examination and enforcement. Bringing together complementary skill sets enables our practitioners to navigate from program design to crisis response and from the strategic to the tactical, providing practical solutions to data-driven companies.
Data Risk Solutions engagements are configured to meet your company’s business requirements and the need for privileged communications. Whether an organization seeks answers to legal questions, enterprise risk program development, or response to a data breach, our teams have the expertise and capability to provide meaningful business solutions and reliable, practical advice regarding your most complex data challenges.
